

PHOTOSHOP

The largest icon on the Tools bar helps you set foreground and background colors. Click the black square (by default) to change the foreground color, and click the white square (by default) to change background color. If you want to revert to Photoshop's default colors, simply click the tiny squares in the lower-left corner of the icon button. To reverse the foreground and background colors, click the double arrow in the upper-right corner of the icon button.
